1. Background

The need to develop ginger value chain is crucial in helping farmers attain better prices for their produce. As a result, the Government of Meghalaya launched the Ginger Mission in March of 2022 which consists of several components executed in several phases; one of these components include input supply to farmers in the form of quality planting material, plant protection and fertilizer inputs, capacity building of farmers. The intervention resulted in an area expansion of around 2000 hectares, primarily focusing on increasing ginger production. The projected increase in production will require necessary interventions along the lines of post-harvest management. MBMA wants to set up community-based primary and secondary processing units for ginger and other spices across the state.

Although ginger when harvested is mostly sold in the form of fresh rhizome, farmers can only fetch a good price for the larger sized rhizomes and the small sized rhizomes are often discarded or sold at a very low price. The smaller sized rhizome can instead be transformed into sliced and dried ginger, which can fetch a higher rate in the market. Hence MBMA wants to equip these processing units with a ginger slicer machine which will reduce the cost of labor significantly as compared to when ginger is sliced manually. This will save up on energy and the quantum by which ginger can be sliced.
